

Rand Looks Back 25 Years...

Chris: Jack-of-all-trades

Celebrating a Quarter Century of Service!

My first few years at Rand I did a little of everything. I started out assisting our Chief Engineer, walking on roofs and checking out boiler rooms. Back at the office, I scraped windows and put up walls. Next came stints as receptionist and office manager, and programmer for our information system, which consisted of two 10MB hard-drive computers with a 5¼-inch floppy. Eventually I was groomed to head up finance and admin.

Having worked in many different roles at Rand has made me appreciate how fortunate I've been to spend my career here. I just can't imagine wanting to work anywhere else. Rand has been and always will be home."
