

Rand Looks Back 25 Years...

Peter: Sweet 16 and Rand on the horizon

Celebrating a Quarter Century of Service!

I was in high school in 1987, and although I didn't know it at the time, Rand was my future. I was hired as a college intern in 1992, and it's been a personal and professional journey ever since.

Over the years I've developed my technical and analytical skills by working on a wide range of projects with clients, which has prepared me to serve them well in my role as Principal.

I've been fortunate to spend my career at a firm with people who care about each other and the work we do. Along the way I've learned success is more than just getting the engineering right. It's also about solving your clients' problems. On that count, Rand has been a huge success."
